STRANGERS WITH US YESTERDAY

BUT THEY ARE NO LONGER STRANGERS TO GREENSBORO.

The New Methodist Ministers Here—Bishop Cheshire, Dr. Caldwell and Others Preach—Dr. Smith the Only Old Pastor in Service Yesterday—Presiding Elder Scroggs Tells How He Would Like His Year's Work to be—Good Congregations at the Various Churches.

Had the Sermon Taster of Drum-tucky been in Greensboro yesterday she would have had her hands full. Most of the pulpits were filled by other ministers than the congregations were accustomed to. The two Methodist congregations heard sermons for the first time by the new ministers sent by the recent Conference. Dr. Caldwell, of Winston preached at Westminster and in the evening at the Normal College. Rev. C. L. Whitaker, president of the North Carolina Conference of the Protestant Methodist Church, preached in the church of his denomination. Rev. T. A. Smoot, of the Greensboro Female College filled the pulpit of West Washington Street Baptist church. Bishop Cheshire held services in the two Episcopal churches. Rev. R. B. Clarke, of Ansonville, preached in the Spring Garden Chapel, and Mrs. Mendedhall, in the Friends' church.

Rev. Dr. E. W. Smith filled the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church both morning and evening. At the morning service he spoke historically of the Puritans and the contributions they made to religious liberty. The sermon showed keen insight into the motives and character of these people and extensive and accurate research in their history.

Bishop Cheshire preached last night in St. Barnabas' church. His subject was the book of Ecclesiastes. After discussing the theories as to its origin, he concluded that the opinion which attributed its authorship to Solomon was correct. He found that it was just such an one as one who, like Solomon, had exhausted the pleasures and opportunities of the world and found them as vanity of vanities, would have written. This book, the Bishop said, should have special significance for the present time. Solomon, having at his command all the pleasures that the most advanced civilization of the world had seen, at last found them vain and unsatisfactory. What is the pessimism of the present day of grandeur and progress but another lament of the incompleteness of it all?

Dr. Robert E. Caldwell, of Winston, before beginning his sermon in Westminster yesterday morning, thanked the church for its kindness in allowing it pastor, Rev. C. E. Hodgins, to be in Winston carrying on mission work, and said that he was having a fine meeting.

The sermon was from the words, "Ye Are Complete in Him." This text, Dr. Caldwell thought, ought to arrest the attention of every human being, for who can say "I am complete, I have reached my ideal, and am wanting in nothing." Yet there are some to whom it may be said "Ye are complete in Christ." All believers have this completeness. It is not a class privilege, it is for all. Christ is our all. In him and in him alone are we made complete. This assertion is based upon Christ's completeness, it is not you, but you are complete because He is. The Colossians, to whom the text was directed, were divided as to how they should make more perfect their attainments in grace. Some of them appealed to sentiment and wonder. They said that the angels should be invoked to help them. Some would try to attain more completeness by taking up bodily burdens and subjecting themselves to physical suffering and grievance. Then Paul wrote to them and said it is alright for you to be dissatisfied, but you can find completeness and a higher life in Christ alone. Christ is complete. He is God. How does his completeness become ours? By reason that he is in you and you in him. He is the vine and you are the branches. He did everything for us and we did it in him. When He died, we died; when He arose, we arose. It is Jesus Christ & Co. What is this completeness itself?

What kind is it? First it is a legal completeness. He suffered for us, justified for us, and if we accept Him, there is no condemnation under the law for us. Our legal standing is complete. The second is ideal completeness. God regards us as complete in Christ because we will be complete finally. His whole object is that we might be complete in character as he is. But that completeness will come only when we stand face to face with him. As the architect looks at his building in process of construction and in his mind sees the completeness that it shall attain, so God looks at us. The new life which has been implanted in us he shapes and figures towards that completeness which shall come when death, the refining pot, shall relieve us of the dross of this world.

Rev. J. R. Scroggs, the new presiding elder of the Greensboro district, occupied the pulpit at West Market yesterday morning. He chose as his text the seventh verse of the forty-first chapter of Ezekiel, and from the text he preached a most excellent sermon. "And there was an enlarging, and a winding about still upward to the side chambers: for the winding about of the house went still upward round about the house: therefore the breadth of the house was still upward, and so increased from the lowest chamber to the highest by the midst." "The text lays down the plan of divine procedure in all its plans. It also lays down, no doubt, the divine plan for human life. It teaches us how we should build higher and broader. That is the way God builds. That is the plan He followed in the creation. He commenced at the bottom and built higher and higher up to man. The highest expression of creation is a human being. However fallen he may be, there is the expression of God's image and the breathing of God's life. Without man there would have been no creation. But it is not yet complete; God is still building. Creation is high and broad, but redemption is higher and broader. Creation is wonderful, but redemption is more wonderful. Redemption is high and broad but glory is higher and broader. No matter how high a man ascends there is always greater heights to be attained."

The speaker was listened to with close attention by the large congregation present.

At the close of his sermon Mr. Scroggs said that in this, his first sermon in his new official relation to the district, he wished to say that he intended his text to be the key note of his year's work, to build higher and broader and grander and nobler. Said he: "I want your sympathy and prayers, and I want your love, but I am not your pastor and I want you to love Brother Turrentine first, but I want to be close behind. I want to feel at home here, to know every one of you, from you grown folk, many of whom I now know, down to these little ones, and I am going to make you love me."

Mr. C. H. Ireland called the attention of the congregation to the work being done on the part of the Ladies' Aid Society, and stated that the ladies could not bear the whole burden, and asked the congregation to give a hundred dollars for that purpose. He also asked that the business men of the congregation close their stores early on Wednesday evening and come to prayer meeting; to have a congregational prayer meeting and meet Rev. Mr. Turrentine, who will arrive that day, and Rev. Mr. Scroggs in a social way after the devotional part of the meeting was over. He also said he hoped the Sunday school room would not be large enough to hold those present. The ladies of the congregation are asked to come to the parsonage Wednesday to meet their new pastor and his family, and to bring good things for the pantry.

West Market Street Epworth League will meet tonight at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is desired, as the semi-annual election of officers will occur.

The entertainment by the Light Bearers last night in West Market church was exceedingly interesting, and the children engaged acquitted themselves with honor. Miss Eugenie

WHY REV. MR. JOHNSON LEAVES

REV. T. B. JUSTICE TELLS OF HIS CALL TO THE SECRETARYSHIP.

A Number of Men Were Talked of Till the Time the Committee Met, but After Prayer Every Mind and Heart Turned to Mr. Johnson—Called as a Duty, Not as an Honor.

Rev. T. B. Justice, of Rutherfordton, one of the most prominent ministers of the Baptist denomination in the western part of the State, spent yesterday and today in the city with his son, Mr. George B. Justice. Rev. Mr. Justice was returning from the Convention at Raleigh, which has just elected Rev. Livingston Johnson corresponding secretary of the State Mission Board, which work will of course take him from his pastorate at Greensboro. Knowing that the people here, irrespective of denomination, were interested in why he came to be selected and his reasons for accepting, Rev. Mr. Justice, who is in thorough touch with all the denominational work, was asked about the matter. In reply he said:

"I believe that brother Johnson is fitted for the work he has agreed to undertake as Corresponding Secretary of the Baptist State Mission Board. I can't say that he is naturally more efficient for this special work than many other preachers in the State, but I believe that he is called to that work, of God."

"A number of brethren were considered and talked of and up to the time that the committee, composed of one member from each Association in the State, held its meeting, the members of it were in doubt. But when in a session of prayer, God himself was besought to direct the action of the committee, every mind and heart was turned to Livingston Johnson as the man for the work. It was not given to him as a compliment, but as a work—a trust—a burden to be borne for Christ's sake. He shrank from it like the modest, humble man he is, but he accepted and undertook it like a faithful servant of a trusted master. "His flock in Greensboro, I find, as I expected would be so, are grieved to give him up. It is the severance of a tender relation, but not the breaking of a tie. As he has been faithful over a few, he has been entrusted with more, not greater things."

"He has our sympathy in a work which tries men, soul and body, brain and muscle. And his consecrated wife, in the loneliness of his absence, and the responsibilities of the home, has our sympathy, and she will have the sympathy and prayers of many a preacher's wife who bears the same burdens for days and weeks together. The ministers of the denomination, I believe, will have for him always, the warmest welcome and substantial aid, and we shall greet his calls as messages from God. "In their love for him, I do hope, that no member of his flock will sadden his duty, by a sad face or dissatisfied word, but that they will hold up his hands and send him forth to his new field with a God speed, and a cheerful heart."

Got the Watch.

Mrs. H. W. Scott won the gold watch given by the Woodward-Warren Company and Mr. Schiffman at the Saturday matinee. The watch stopped at 1 hour, 29 minutes and 4 seconds. Mrs. Scott's guess was 1:30. Miss Mary Porter won the box of candy given by John B. Fariss. Her guess was 1:32.

Fight Between Dr. Williams and Mr. Smithdeal.

Several days ago, Mr. Smithdeal, who keeps a news stand near The Record office, hit a small son of Dr. B. B. Williams, physician at the Kelley Institute. The boy, who is a paper carrier, was before the shop with the other boys and tore a small cloth sign belonging to Mr. Smithdeal. The latter, making objection, the boy paid ten cents for the damage and proceeded to take the sign. The result was Mr. Smithdeal hit him with the stick to which the cloth was attached.

Dr. Williams' friends say he has carefully tried to repress the feeling he felt over the matter, and had done so until today. This morning Dr. Williams was down town and walked into Thacker & Brockmann's and left his overcoat, and pretty soon he came back as if nothing had happened. In that time, however, he had gone into Mr. Smithdeal's place and attacked him with a walking stick. One lick cut a gash on Mr. Smithdeal's face which had to be sewed up. A customer was in the store at the time and stopped the fighting.

Tigers Go Into a Trust on Sunday.

In one of the cases being tried in court this morning for retailing, a little negro woman gave some real new information about the festive blind tigers. Attorney Wilson asked her how much liquor she brought. She said twenty cents worth.

"How much did you get, a half pint?" asked Mr. Wilson.

"No; I didn't get but 'bout a gill," replied the negress.

"How's that? Has it gone up?" the lawyer persisted.

"Well, it's dis way," said the darkey. "I bought dis on Sunday. Dey has two prices. When de spensery is open in de week dey have to sell at de price it do, but on Sunday when de spensery is shot up, dey sells higher."

Barge Goes Down With Eight People.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 9.—A special to the Plain Dealer from Erie, Pa., says: "In the midst of one of the most bitter gales that ever swept Lake Erie the iron ore barge Charles Foster, in tow of the Iron Duke, went to the bottom at 4 o'clock this morning, ten miles off Erie, and eight persons were drowned, as follows: Captain John Bridge, of Cleveland; first mate, name unknown; Seaman Robert Wood, of Port Austin, Michigan; Seaman Wm. Kelly, of Port Austin, Michigan; cook, Mrs. May, of Detroit; two unknown deck hands."

BAY STATE AT BUFFALO.

Fine Historical Exhibit Will Be Made by Massachusetts.

The historic commonwealth of Massachusetts will have a most interesting exhibit at the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo.

It is being collected through the cooperation of various societies, such as the Sons of the Revolution, Daughters of the Revolution, Sons of the American Revolution, Daughters of the American Revolution, the Society of the War of 1812 and kindred organizations. The chairman of the Massachusetts Pan-American commission, Mr. Walter Gilman Page, is a leading spirit in these societies and is anxious that the wealth of historic material possessed by Massachusetts should be adequately represented at the Pan-American Exposition.

The matter of a building has not yet been definitely decided, but it is probable that the old Providence House, which was one of the historic buildings of Boston, will be reproduced as a home for Massachusetts exhibits at the Exposition in Buffalo. This building was typical in its style of the old fashioned Boston architecture and, in addition, possessed a special interest from its historic associations. It formerly stood on the Washington street end of Providence court, partly on the site of what is now Clark's Tavern.

Boyd's Nomination.

Washington cor. Asheville Citizen. Up to date the President has not forwarded to the Senate the nomination of Federal Judge James E. Boyd for the western district of North Carolina, first made during the recess of Congress. This is probably due to the vast amount of routine work at the white house and the many nominations that demanded previous attention. There is no doubt that Judge Boyd will be nominated and confirmed by the Senate promptly and without opposition. He is known personally to almost every senator of both parties.

A Delightful Concert.

Richmond Times.

At the opening entertainment of the Star Course at the Young Men's Christian Association last night there was not a vacant seat in the hall. It was one of the most appreciative audiences which had gathered there for a long time, and well may this be said for a more delightful musical programme of the kind has not been rendered in Richmond for years.

The Boston sextette Club proved themselves capable musicians with fine taste, thorough training and strong powers of interpretation. Both the orchestra work and the solo numbers were admirably rendered, and heartily appreciated.

The programme opened with an overture, "Tantalus qualen" (Suppe) which was handled with fine spirit and unusual strength. "La Vieille de Ange Gardien" (Pierne) and "Fly Minute" from opera "Der Bajazzo" (Czbulka) was played by string quintette with fine effect. Mr. C. L. Staats played as a clarinet solo Fantasia from "Pre Aux Cleres" (Paradise).

Mr. Loud played as a violin solo "Fantasia Caprice" (Vieuxtemps) in a way that left no doubt as to his ability as an artist.

MONDAY DECEMBER 10.

SHOULD HAVE SOME FREE MAIL DELIVERY ROUTES.

Mr. W. I. Underwood, the Greensboro correspondent of the Charlotte Observer, says in this morning's paper:

An effort will probably be made during the present session of Congress to secure a rural free delivery route out of Greensboro. The surrounding country is thickly populated and it is believed that the experiment would prove profitable. There is no question as to the favor it would meet with at the hands of the people affected.

We know of some places in the State where the free rural routes have been established, and there is no question of their great value to the people who are served by them. We do not know that it is necessary to go further than the post office department to have a route established, as the Postmaster General has been acting under the authority of Congress in establishing these routes as an experiment. It is noteworthy, too, that he is so well satisfied with the experiment that in his recent report here recommends an appropriation of $3,500,000 to further extend the work during the coming fiscal year. The Secretary places great value upon free rural delivery, as the following figures from his report show:

On the first of July, 1899, there were 391 rural delivery routes in operation. Within the fiscal year, under an appropriation of $450,000, this number was increased to 1,214. On the first of July, 1900, the appropriation of $1,750,000 became available, and on the 15th of November 2,614 routes had been located and established, 61,979 miles in aggregate length, covering 66,482 square miles, divided among 44 States and Territories, and serving a population of 1,801,524. The number of applications pending at that date and awaiting action or under investigation was more than 2,100—nearly enough to double the existing service—and every day brings more. The close of the present fiscal year will see about 4,300 routes in operation, carrying the mail daily to the doors of not less than 3,500,000 residents of the rural districts.

Guilford should by all means have some of these routes. If the matter is brought to Congressman Kitchen's attention we have no doubt he will do what he can towards securing one or more routes for us.

It is significant that last week, at one time, contracts were let for war craft by the United States, which will furnish eleven ships with an aggregate tonnage greater than that of our entire navy ten years ago. Ten years ago it was scarcely thought that we should ever need much of a navy, and certainly no more of an army than was needed for police duty. But now we are evidently on the road to a greater navy than any other power on earth except England, and we shall not for a great number of years be very far behind her. While England's policy is to keep a navy equal to that of all Europe combined, she may not think it bad policy to encourage us in building.

To well paved streets and improved roads must be attributed some of the growth of Asheville.—Asheville Gazette.

These are two factors that must not under any circumstances be omitted if a town or county is going to live up to its opportunities in North Carolina these days.

We are reading the papers of the State now to little advantage, if there is not a deep, earnest and emphatic demand in North Carolina that the Legislature take an advanced step in behalf of the primary schools of the State. We have never seen the papers present a more united front on any question. Since the August election this sentiment has been especially pronounced and it means that the Legislature must give earnest effort to this matter. The State will not be satisfied with any off hand, careless, work on this line. The legislators must do all that can be done, and the people must be convinced that they have done so.

MODERN BATHROOMS.

Many of the Fine Houses Fitted with Expensive Pools.

Large Swimming Tanks in a Number of Private Residences—Fine Furnishings of Swimming Faddists.

Bathrooms in dwelling-houses are a comparatively modern convenience, but public bathing places are as old as civilization. The Greeks and Romans spent large sums in fitting up public baths, which were popular resorts for all classes, but a private bathroom in one's own house would have been hard to find. Even to this day the people of India consider bathing in anything other than a river or smaller stream of running water to be a disgraceful act. Pent water was considered defiling to the body by the ancients and the public baths of Greece and Rome were so constructed that the outflow of water was equal to the inflow so as to secure as nearly as possible pure water for every bather, says a Chicago exchange.

The bathroom in hotels and dwellings passed rapidly from the realm of luxury to that of necessity; to-day a house without a bathtub is the exception. But with the belief, or knowledge, rather, that cleanliness is next to godliness came a sort of rivalry in bathroom furnishings and sanitary engineering skill and inventive genius were called upon to do their best. A few years ago a little room in an obscure corner with a zinc tub was something to boast of, but in these days of great individual wealth and palaces the bathroom often involves a large expenditure of money.

Many of the wealthy construct their bathrooms on lines that are as far removed from the old tub style as it is possible for the ingenuity of the architect and plumber to construct them. Instead of a $25 zinc tub a pool 5x8 feet or larger is constructed of porcelain in the center of a large room, say 14x20. Entrance to the pool from the curbing level is by marble steps, and the depth of the water may be as much as four or five feet. The curbing is of marble and the walls and ceiling of the room are lined with tile or onyx. The windows are of cathedral shape and great palms and smaller plants are placed about where they will give the room "all the comforts of home" and the picturesqueness of a garden. But that is not all that is required of such bathrooms. There must be another, but smaller, room adjacent, lined throughout with marble, with the floor inclined to the center, for the shower bath. Then there must be another small room at hand for a porcelain foot tub and still another for a wash basin, to say nothing of an elaborately appointed dressing-room. All the floors should be in tile, done in mosaic pattern, with rugs here and there. Such a bathroom costs from $5,000 to $7,000, and it is said there are a few of them in Chicago.

In most modern mansions in Chicago the cost of the bathroom and accessories range from $700 to $2,000; the latter includes a pool instead of a tub. Cathedral windows are dispensed with, the pool is porcelain lined, the shower is over the pool, and, in fact, one room serves for everything except the dressing apartment. It is a fad with some wealthy people to have the tub hewn from a solid block of marble, but such folks are few and far between. There is another style of tub that is liked. It is solid steel porcelain lined, sets on the floor without legs and when in place looks as if it might have grown out of the wall. These tubs are low and roomy, but the shower has to be a separate work of art fashioned on a marble slab in another part of the room.

There are many private houses in Chicago that have bathrooms costing from $500 to $1,500, and some dwellings have one on each floor, as well as a lavatory, but as a rule from $150 to $300 is all house owners care to invest in that department.

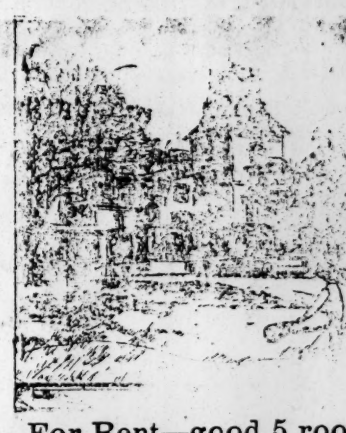

A few swimming faddists have pools occupying most of the space in the cellar. Of course the cellar must be constructed to admit of such a thing and also to give the pool the required depth. "The correct house for a gentleman to live in has a swimming pool in the cellar and a billiard-room in the top story," says a man who has both.

Plumbers say that few zinc-lined tubs are used these days. An iron body with enamel lining costs little more and outlasts a dozen zinc tubs.

A gentleman who has a costly bathroom says the way to enjoy a bath is to submerge oneself in the water to the chin, then light a cigar and sip ice-cold champagne between puffs. "Keep it up until the cigar and the wine are used up, then go to bed and dream of fairy lands."

Whatever the power possessed by this abnormal pair, there is no question as to the poisonous character of the snakes, nor of the fact that they bite their keepers, and that the bites were absolutely innocuous.

The increase in shipments of coal from the United States to Europe shows plainly that the market abroad exists, but until better facilities for transportation have been provided the business is not apt to assume extensive proportions.

After quite an extended experience of prescribing and noting results of the various mineral waters, I unhesitatingly think this water the best renovator and "builder" up of them all. For Scrofula, catarrh and blood diseases generally it is almost a specific. Too much, in my opinion, cannot be said of the curative properties of the Vade Mecum Water. D. N. DALTON, M. D. Winston, N. LADIES' OUTDOOR COSTUME, CONSISTING OF LADIES' COLLARLESS ETON, NO. 8167, AND FIVE GORED SKIRT WITH CIRCULAR FLOUNCE, NO. 8141.

Metal gray vicuna is here stylishly trimmed with bands of black bear fur.

The Eton is shaped with shoulder and under-arm seams, also center-back seam which may be omitted if so desired. The forms are fitted with single bust darts and close in the center. The jacket is cut off at the waist line in the back under the arms, but it is stylishly pointed in front. The edges are finished with narrow fur bands. It may be worn open, as illustrated, to display a fancy waist.

The sleeves are made with inside seams only. They have slight fullness at the shoulders and fit the arm closely to the elbow. At the lower edge they flare widely and are arranged on a close-fitting wristband, which is fur-trimmed.

The five-gored skirt is fitted smoothly around the waist with small darts. The fullness at the back is arranged in an underlying plait at each side of the center closing. The pattern is given full length and the flounce may be either applied over it or finished to form its lower portion, in which case the skirt proper is cut a seam width below the indicating line of perforations, the joining being hidden by a band of fur. The flounce gives a fashionable flare to the lower edge of the skirt.

Venetian zibeline, covert or broadcloth are appropriate for this mode, with velvet, applique or stitched bands of cloth for decoration.

To make the Eton in the medium size will require two yards of fifty-inch material. The pattern, No. 8167, is cut in sizes for a 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inch bust measure.

To make the skirt in the medium size will require five yards of forty-four-inch material. The pattern, No. 8142, is cut in sizes for a 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 and 34-inch waist measure.

ANÆMIA

Pale, thin, weak, run-down,
low spirits, no appetite.

Rosy and plump, fair
strength, with pleasure in work,
get hungry three times a day,
and like good food.

Which of these two pictures
is yours?

There are ways to either condition. Skip the first, for nobody wants to be in it. If in it, the way to the second is Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil, with proper attention to course of life.

We'll send you a little to try if you like.
SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl street, New York.

Now is the time when croup and lung troubles prove rapidly fatal. The only harmless remedy that produces immediate results is One Minute Cough Cure. It is very pleasant to take and can be relied upon to quickly cure coughs, colds and all lung diseases. It will prevent consumption. Howard Gardner.

BAD BLOOD, BAD COMPLEXION.

The skin is the seat of an almost endless variety of diseases. They are known by various names, but are all due to the same cause, acid and other poisons in the blood that irritate and interfere with the proper action of the skin.

To have a smooth, soft skin, free from all eruptions, the blood must be kept pure and healthy. The many preparations of arsenic and potash and the large number of face powders and lotions generally used in this class of diseases cover up for a short time, but cannot remove permanently the ugly blotches and the red, disfiguring pimples.

Etternal vigilance is the price of a beautiful complexion

when such remedies are relied on.
Mr. H. T. Shobe, 2704 Lucas Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., says: "My daughter was afflicted for years with a disfiguring eruption on her face, which resisted all treatment. She was taken to two celebrated health springs, but received no benefit. Many medicines were prescribed, but without result, until we decided to try S. S. S., and by the time the first bottle was finished the eruption began to disappear. A dozen bottles cured her completely and left her skin perfectly smooth.
She is now seventeen years old, and not a sign of the embarrassing disease has ever returned."

S. S. S. is a positive, unfailing cure for the worst forms of skin troubles. It is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and the only one guaranteed purely vegetable.

Bad blood makes bad complexions.
It purifies and invigorates the old and makes new, rich blood that nourishes the body and keeps the skin active and healthy and in proper condition to perform its part towards carrying off the impurities from the body.

If you have Eczema, Tetter, Acne, Salt
Rheum, Psoriasis, or your skin is rough and pimply, send for our book on Blood and Skin Diseases and write our physicians about your case. No charge whatever for this service.

HIS LIFE WAS SAVED.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with typhoid fever that ran into pneumonia. My lungs became hardened.
I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of consumption,
when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief.
I continued to use it and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all throat and lung trouble.

RHEUMATISM—CATARRH—DIS-EASES CURED BY B. B. B.

It is the deep-seated, obstinate cases of catarrh and rheumatism that B. B.
B. (Botanic Blood Balm) cures. It matters not what other treatments, doctors, sprays, liniments, medicated
air blood purifiers, have failed to do, B. B. B. always promptly reaches the real cause and roots out and drives from the bones, joints, mucous membrane, and entire system the specific poison in the blood that causes rheumatism and catarrh. B. B. B. is the only remedy strong enough to do this and cure and so there can never be a return to the symptoms. Don't give up hope, but try B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) or 3 Bs.

For sale by druggists and Howard Gardner, in Greensboro, at $1 per large bottle, or 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. To prove our faith in B. B. B. we will send a trial bottle free to sufferers, so they may test the remedy at our expense. Address

GOOD ADVICE.

The most miserable things in the world are those suffering from dyspepsia and liver complaint. More than seventy-five per cent. of the people in the United States are afflicted with these two diseases and their effects:
such as sour stomach, sick headache, habitual costiveness, palpitation of the heart, heart-burn, waterbrash, gnawing and burning pains at the pit
of the stomach, yellow skin, coated tongue and disagreeable taste in the mouth, coming up of food after eating, low spirits, etc. Go to your druggist and get a bottle of August Flower for 75 cents. Two doses will relieve you.
Try it. Get Green's Prize Almanac.

"What has become of the fruit that used to taste?" asked the distracted man who had just taken a bite from a peach that glowed in delicate shades of pink and gold, relates the New York Sun. "Where are the peaches that used to have the real taste and juice and flavor and were a delight to eat? I have just paid five cents for a large delicious-looking peach that is as dry as sawdust and as little more to suggest that it is fruit and not cotton batting. Such beautiful colors I have never seen before, and so far as their merely spectacular features are concerned the peach of the day is a great improvement on its predecessors. But it is of no earthly use for any purpose. It is dry and flavorless and does not repay the trouble of eating it. I can remember, however, quite another peach which was common enough some years ago, although it seems to be rare enough now. The good pears are as difficult to find as the peaches, and the quality of the ordinary run is just as poor. They are more beautiful than ever to look at, but are tasteless. Nobody seems able to tell just why fruit should have lost its quality so completely. But the fact is remarked by everybody. All I can say is that these two particular kinds of fruit would never have gained their present reputation if they had always tasted as they do now. As the fruit stands grow large and elaborate the quality of the fruit itself seems to become poorer and poorer."
